

The Farm comes to the Roberts Day Nursery!

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

PRESS RELEASE

16 July 2012

Portsmouth – 16 July 2012 -- Children at the Roberts Day Nursery and pupils from Arundel Court School were invited to spend a day at the farm in the Roberts Day Nursery.

Millar's Ark Farm travelled to Portsmouth bringing with them a selection of animals for the children to meet.

Nursery children had the chance to get up close to and feed sheep, goats, piglets, geese, rabbits and chicks.

Katy McFarlane, Nursery Manager of The Roberts Day Nursery said; 'The children were delighted to see the animals and get the opportunity to pet them. Learning where food comes from is an essential part of developing healthy children and seeing them this close inspires their interest and provides an exciting experience in the security of their own environment.'

Carole Damper, Chief Executive of The Roberts Centre said 'A donation from one of our supporters made this fabulous visit possible. Experiences like these allow the children to grow in self-confidence and social skills through activity and play. The children will be talking about this visit for a long time'.
